Wonderful - Counsellor - The mighty God - The everlasting Father - The Prince of Peace

And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins.

Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying,

Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is God with us.

Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife:

And knew her not till she had brought forth her firstborn son: and he called his name JESUS.

Matthew 1:21-25

"The Guest at The "Inn"

I had a room at the Inn that night; that I needed not at all.

But because of thoughtlessness, my Lord was born in a stall.

I saw the Mother when she arrived, her trip had been long and hard.

I saw her need, I turned away, and left them there in the yard.

I was young and strong and had a horse, and a home not far away;

To have traveled on would have left them room, but I chose instead, to stay.

So there was no room at the Inn that night; though Mary was worn and spent;

But now I know who I turned away, and that is my punishment.

To think that I closed my heart to him, through my selfishness and greed.

I lost my chance in Bethlehem, for a room I did not need!!

~Delores Flater~

We are all "Inn Keepers" of our own heart...will you make room for Jesus while you still have the chance or will you wait until it's too late?

Cousin Leroy

Leroys neighbor was a turkey farmer and was always experimenting with breeding to perfect a better turkey. His family was fond of the leg portion for dinner and there were never enough legs for everyone. After many frustrating attempts, the farmer was relating the results of his efforts to Leroy at the general store. "Well I finally did it! I bred a turkey that has 6 legs!" Ole Leroy said WOW and asked the farmer how it tasted. "I don't know yet said the farmer. "I aint been able to catch em !!

The Expert

An efficiency expert was delivering a seminar on time management for a company's junior executives. He concluded the session with a disclaimer: "Don't attempt these task-organizing tips at home," he said. "Why not?" he was asked. "Well, I did a study of my wife's routine of fixing breakfast," he replied, a little embarrassed. "I noticed she made a lot of trips between the refrigerator and the stove, the table and the cabinets, each time carrying only one item. So I asked her, 'Honey, I notice that you make a lot of trips back and forth carrying one item at a time. If you would try carrying several things at once you would be much more efficient.'" He paused. "Did that save time?" one of the executives asked. "Actually, yes," the expert answered, "It used to take her twenty minutes to fix my breakfast. Now I make my own in seven minutes."

The Funeral

Just before the funeral services, the undertaker came up to the very elderly widow and asked, "How old was your husband?" "98," she replied. "Two years older than me." "So you're 96?" the undertaker asked. She responded, "Hardly worth going home, is it?"

The Piano

A guy bought his wife a piano for her birthday. A few weeks later his buddy asked how she was doing with it. "Actually," said the guy, "I persuaded her to switch to a clarinet." "How come?" asked his buddy "Well," said the guy, "with a clarinet she can't sing."

Homework

"Johnny, where's your homework?" Miss Martin said sternly to the little boy while holding out her hand. "My dog ate it," was his solemn response. "Johnny, I've been a teacher for eighteen years. Do you really expect me to believe that?" "It's true, Miss Martin, I promise it is," insisted Johnny. "I had to smear it with honey, but I finally got him to eat it."

Discharge Rules

Hospital regulations require a wheelchair for patients being discharged. A student nurse found one elderly gentleman--already dressed and sitting on the bed with a suitcase at his feet--who insisted he didn't need any help to leave the hospital. After a chat about rules being rules, he reluctantly let the nurse wheel him to the elevator. On the way down she asked him if his wife was meeting him. "I don't know," he said. "She's still upstairs in the bathroom changing out of her hospital gown."

You Might Live In A Small Town If...

...the city jail is called Amoeba, because it only has one cell.

...Main Street is one block long and dead ends in both directions.

...Second Street is in the next town over.

...the ZIP code is a fraction.

The Empty Chair

Pastor Billy R Douglas

I wrote this article a few years ago and we have heard from so many people that have been touched by it that I felt lead to share it again this year. I pray that it will be a blessing to you.

And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: for I said, Who can tell whether GOD will be gracious to me, that the child may live? But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me.

2 Samuel 12:22-23

The words of King David no doubt strike a chord in the heart of each one of us. He was mourning the death of his child. He had wept, fasted, prayed to God...but the child died anyway. Yet during this hard time in his life David found a truth to hold on to...a peace that can only come from the Lord. As we gather with our family and friends for Christmas there will be an empty chair or chairs around the table that serve to remind us of loved ones who have went home to be with the Lord. As I thought on this the Holy Spirit brought something to mind that was a comfort to me and I pray that it in some way will comfort you as well. Just as there are empty chairs around our table as we gather, there are empty chairs around that great table in Heaven...those chairs await you and me. And just as King David said...we cannot bring our loved ones back to us but we can most assuredly go to them! If we keep our faith and our trust in Jesus Christ we can have the comfort of knowing that one day in the portals of Heaven we will once again gather around the table with our loved ones. I want to share a poem that I found recently. I am not sure who wrote it but I knew as soon as I read it that the Lord wanted me to share it with you...

Time cannot heal the emptiness
 Or fill the empty chair
 The one that's in the family room
 I see it empty there
 Or the chair that's at the table
 Where together we would dine
 Although I sit there still
 The only hands that pray are mine
 Still I give thanks to God each day
 I pray this prayer comes true
 You save an empty chair for me
 When I come home to you

I know that the holidays are hard and bring much grief to so many. I have even heard people say that they "hate the holidays" because of the pain of missing loved ones who have passed on. Trust me when I tell you that those who have gone home to be with the Lord would not want us grieving ourselves to death because of their passing. They are happy with the Lord...happier than they ever were in this old world. And they would want us to be happy as well. Take comfort in the fact today that even though they cannot come to be with us in this world and once again fill their empty chair, we will one day take our place at that great marriage supper in Heaven and fill the empty chair that awaits us there.

Not long after writing this article I preached a sermon at VOTL by the same name "The Empty Chair". If you or someone that you know would like to have a copy on CD we will send it to you free of charge by simply writing us and letting us know. Until next time may the LORD Bless and keep you is our prayer. Pastor Billy R Douglas

But God is the strength of my heart

Pastor Steven Huston

“Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart. But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well nigh slipped. For I was envious at the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked...Behold, these are the ungodly, who prosper in the world; they increase in riches. Verily I have cleansed my heart in vain, and washed my hands in innocence...Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end. Surely thou didst set them in slippery places: thou castedst them down into destruction...Thus my heart was grieved, and I was pricked in my reins. So foolish was I, and ignorant: I was as a beast before thee...Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory. Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee. My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever...For, lo, they that are far from thee shall perish: thou hast destroyed all them that go a whoring from thee. But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord GOD, that I may declare all thy works.”

Psalms 73:1-3, 12-13, 17-18, 21-22, 24-28

As humans, we too often get caught up in what we can see instead of either looking for what God is doing behind the scenes, trusting in His eternal purposes of “working all things together for good for those who love Him,” or remembering that oft times rewards and judgments are eternal. In other words, things are not always as they seem and sometimes it just takes time. As Paul reminded the Corinthians, “For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.” (2 Corinthians 4:17-18)

That’s where the psalmist was—temporarily. Maybe you’re feeling that way right now; if so, I hope only temporarily because there’s a “BUT GOD” moment awaiting you. It’s easy to feel confused or that things aren’t fair when we see things going quite well for wicked people. For many of us, recent election results didn’t go as we feel they should and the issue of life was defeated in many places around the country. Maybe you’re tired of being the “punching bag” in your family or workplace because you alone point to the eternal truths, stand for righteousness, and won’t go along with the crowd. We might also feel as Paul did that “all men forsook me;” but don’t forget the next verse starts with “Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me.”

When did things change for the psalmist? When he “went into the sanctuary of God.” When we start looking at the things which are not seen; when we recognize that our rewards are not here and that God is our portion. That’s when we saw the true end of both the wicked and the righteous. When we get a vision of their end and ours, instead of feeling sorry for ourselves, we will feel sorry for them. When we come to that “BUT GOD” moment presented here in Psalm 73, it will make all the difference in how we view of things.

We are told how to walk and where that path leads in verse 24 – by God’s counsel, by the Word. We’ve seen, by the psalmist’s example, how weak our flesh is and how our hearts will fail us. We’re reminded by Paul that “the things which are seen are temporal.” BUT GOD! Jehovah will be our unfailing strength while the arm of flesh will fail us. God is our portion because He is enough. Our hearts may melt in the day of trouble BUT GOD is our strength and portion and bulwark and EVERYTHING we need.

When the psalmist came into God’s presence, recognizing God’s holiness, and realizing that all who are unholy will receive their just rewards, he saw himself as a beast. His flesh and his heart would fail; he felt weak beyond measure, BUT GOD! The psalmist had no strength BUT GOD strengthens and renews. He had given up everything and thought it was all for naught; but God, became the psalmist’s reward, worth, and Savior. BUT God took this victim and made Him a victor; God took him out of his pity party and put him in a praise party. God took his brokenness and turned it to blessedness.

May we shout loudly with the psalmist for all to hear – “But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord GOD, that I may declare all thy works.” (Psalms 73:28)

Don't Open 'Til December 25th!

Pastor Steven Huston

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law,"
Galatians 4:4

Who hasn't seen a gift with that "Don't open until Christmas!" tag attached? You've likely often wondered, "What could it be?" as your eyes see it occupying both a special place under the tree and in your mind. Even if it's not your gift, our minds are mesmerized with wonder at the mystery of these special contents. It's a promise to be opened in the fullness of time – that time being December 25. Though not born on "Christmas Day," Jesus is the present from our eternal Father that was the promised Messiah, the long awaited Saviour, and the fulfillment of not only time but many prophecies as well. Jesus, the only begotten Son, had that special "Do not open 'til Christmas" tag. O glorious day when time was fulfilled and the whole world would hear the joyous message, "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace." (Isaiah 9:6)

Can you imagine the excitement and anticipation that Jewish people would feel when their eyes would fall upon one of the many promises in Scripture that Messiah would one day come? How their minds must have wondered who the Messiah would be, what He would look like, what kind of grand entrance would He make, and the anticipation of Messiah putting their enemies in place. I imagine they would teach their children of the promise and present of God, pointing the many Scriptures out with gladness and gratitude, with the excitement that one day the fullness of time would come – one day the "present" would be unwrapped and would be theirs. Hallelujah!

"December 25" came, the gift was unwrapped for "the Jew first, and also to the Greek." There were so few who recognized the promised present - some shepherds on a hillside, Simeon and Anna, a few kings from the East, and maybe a handful of others. For the most part, it was opened unnoticed and unappreciated. Many were looking for someone to save them from Roman rule but He had come, this time, to save them from their sin. They were looking for a man, but He came as a baby; a lion, but He had come as a Lamb. They expected someone who would fit their idea of religion; but Jesus had come as the only way to the Father, that love rather than legalistic rote could become the norm. Actually, to this day many are still waiting for the "fullness of time," so they can unwrap their promised present. Many others have lost the excitement, anticipation, and maybe faith that "December 25" will actually come. It's like receiving a "Don't open 'til Christmas" present in March; at first, you're excited, eventually it gets in the way, so it gets relegated to the hallway closet till Christmas time. Once in the closet, little by little it gets more and more forgotten instead of cherished.

Friends, we've been given another "Christmas/Advent promise," which is simply awaiting "the fullness of time." I've been told that for every promise of Jesus' first coming, there are two prophetic verses of His second coming. Do we await with anticipation and excitement that Jesus IS coming back? Or are we content to live our lives in this world with little thought of the next? Do our thoughts parallel Peter's warning? "...Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." (2 Peter 3:4)

Luke 21 is full of promise, warning, and admonition regarding the time of this next "Christmas present." Don't be fooled; don't let Jesus' warning go unheeded. Take a few moments to prayerfully read Luke 21 and prepare your heart and mind, keep the faith and keep faithful, do all you can to help others be ready for His sure return. And what of our Jewish friends still awaiting Messiah? There will come a day when they will finally understand that Jesus was the promised Messiah and He is their salvation. In that day, God will "pour upon the house of David...the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn." (Zech. 12:10)

May this Christmas be as much of a reminder that Jesus IS coming back as it is a remembrance that He has come. find ourselves standing against the Defender of Truth, He who IS TRUTH, Jesus Christ. Be faithful and fruitful!

The Gift of the Magi

Adapted by Stories To Grow By

Della and Jim were married just a year. They had very little money and their place was poor. But what they lacked in fancy things, they made up for with love. The very next day was Christmas. All the money Della had to buy a gift for her dear husband was $1.87. "What on earth can I buy with that?" she asked. Turning around, she saw her reflection in the mirror. Stepping up to the mirror, she stared at her reflection. "At least Jim loves my long beautiful hair," she said, taking a spin. "He calls me his queen!" Then she stopped cold. "Some queen I am!" she said, "with just $1.87 to spend on a gift for my husband."

Then all at once, Della knew what she must do. Very fast, she put on her cloak and rushed out of the apartment. She ran down the street to a shop where wigs were made. A sign read: "We buy hair." "Tell me," Della asked the shop woman. "How much will you pay me for my hair?" "Come step inside," said the shop woman, "and let me see it." Della stepped in the shop and took off her cloak. Down fell her long, thick hair. "My, my!" said the shop woman, "I will pay you twenty dollars for your lovely, long hair."

At last, with twenty dollars in her pocket and the $1.87 from before, Della could go shopping. But what should she get her husband? The one thing Jim loved best in all the world was his golden pocket watch. It had come from his father, and from his father's father before that. Sometimes, when Jim did not think anyone could see, he took out that golden watch, turned it over, and rubbed it with care. Della knew this because she saw him do it. Then Della saw the perfect gift- a gold chain for his pocket watch!

For $21 she bought the gold watch chain. With that chain hooked up to Jim's pocket watch, the watch could not fall out of his pocket. And wouldn't Jim look grand when he took out that golden pocket watch and everyone could see the shiny gold chain, too!

That night when Jim came home, Della rushed up to give him the gift she had bought. Yet when he saw his wife's short hair on her face, a frown appeared where he had smiled. "Oh, do not worry, husband!" she cried. "My hair grows back quickly." Then, before she could give Jim her gift, he handed his wife a small box. Della untied the ribbon and opened it. Inside were two beautiful hair combs! They were the very same ones she had mooned over many times in the store windows, but they cost far too much money.

Now they were the gift her dear husband had given her. Then, Della handed Jim her box. "Now your turn," she said. When Jim opened it and saw the gold watch chain, he had to sit down. "Don't you like it?" said his wife. "Of course, I do!" said Jim. "But you see, I sold my watch so I could buy you the two hair combs." "And I sold my hair to buy you the watch chain!" said Della.

Jim and Della had both given up the one thing they held most dear for the sake of the other. And now they had nothing to show for it. Or did they? "My queen," said Jim, taking his wife's hands into his own and looking into her eyes. "My dear beloved husband," said Della, with love.

Robert Morrison Rejected

Those who give themselves with utter abandon to the Lord Jesus, willing to go WHEREVER He sends and grateful to do WHATEVER He calls them to, may find that they are rejected by many, including by those to whom they are sent. There are few, like Robert Morrison, that will find themselves even rejected in death. The blessing, however, is that NO ONE who gives themselves up for Christ will find even one iota of rejection in eternity. They will receive a hearty welcome home forever.

Robert Morrison had been a young British man studying accounting when God saved him and called him to the mission field in China. He obediently went to China; but when China understood why he was there, they kicked him out. He went to a Portuguese colony, stayed for a while, went back to China, only to be deported once again. So, he went to work as an accountant for the East India Company; they hated missionaries too. Now and again, Robert would travel to China only to be expelled each time. Morrison worked all day for the East India Company who hated missionaries and at night he worked on translating the Bible into Chinese. He finally finished translating God's Word into the language of the people he had been sent to; and then, later he died.

We've seen how he was rejected in life; now, even in death no one wanted him. The Chinese certainly didn't want a Christian buried in their cemetery and the Roman Catholics didn't want a Protestant buried in theirs. The archbishop finally negotiated with someone to sell one plot in which to bury Robert Morrison. Now, you see how he was rejected in life and in death. But dear one, be assured, there is NO rejection in eternity for him. Robert is with his God and his Savior, Jesus Christ. He's accepted and loved through all eternity.

In our society, nearly everyone is so focused on their own personal needs, comforts, and desires that hardly anyone will give themselves with utter abandon to Jesus Christ. So few will say, "Whatever God asks, I will do. Wherever Christ sends, I will go." The question is, dear reader, "Will you?"

What Would Jesus Do

Pastor Mike Vaughn

Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.
1 Corinthians 10:31

Did you know that the best argument for Christianity and the best argument against Christianity is... your life? That's right. Not only are you to be a witness for and of Jesus, you are to be a part of the evidence of His reality. What would happen if every Christian began to walk as Jesus walked, talked as Jesus talked, and loved as Jesus loved? The world would take notice. Each morning as you start your day ask yourself, "What would Jesus do?" Pastor Mike Vaughn

Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.
Matthew 5:14

A Word for TODAY!

By Sister Michelle Deuling

Verse for Today: 1 Thessalonians 4:9 But as touching brotherly love ye need not that I write unto you: for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another. Additional passages for Today: John 13:34, 35; John 15:12 & 17; Hebrews 10:24; 1 John 4:7 & 8

Thought for Today: God is love. God teaches love. The more we know God the more we can love.

Story for Today: Miranda rounded the corner and came to an abrupt halt. Vicki and Monica were just ahead and were putting up the nativity scene. Miranda shuttered as she thought about what might have happened if she hadn't seen the other girls on their mission. It seemed quite strange that the girl with the worst temper who seemed to always be sporting an attitude would be carrying the baby Jesus to place in the manger. Monica often created drama as she vocalized her dislike about whatever had caught her fancy that day. One thing was constant and that was Monica's dislike for Miranda. To her knowledge, Miranda had never done anything to hurt Monica, but Monica still made her hatred for Miranda known. Miranda remembered Pastor Dave's story he had shared recently about how Jesus taught God's love every time he encountered mankind. He talked about the woman at the well, the one that realized that Jesus was the Christ after he told her all the things that she had done in her past. He recounted the encounter with Zacchaeus, the tax collector that repented and returned four times what he had taken illegally. Pastor Dave spoke of Jesus' relationship with the disciples and many of the parables that Jesus shared and how in each of these accounts, someone was taught by God how to love. He shared that as they understood God more, they loved Him more. As they loved Him more, they followed the leading of the Holy Spirit and loved God more and more. And ultimately the more they loved God, the more love they had for others. She took in a deep breath and began to pray for Monica. She also prayed for Vicki and all the others here today that were working to set up a reminder of why we celebrate Christmas. She prayed that the others would see the opportunities and that they would speak truth into Monica's life.

It wasn't long before Monica and Miranda's paths crossed and Miranda had a choice to make. This was a chance to praise God and speak words of encouragement to Monica or a time to ignore or criticize her. Miranda chose to love God and allow Him to use her as she spoke words of encouragement to Monica and love for God that helped her through the difficult times. Monica seemed genuinely touched that someone would care enough about her to be an encouragement. As Monica shared that she struggled keeping friends because she moved so often, Miranda shared about Jesus and how He was able to go everywhere with us.

She shared Bible verses that told of God's love and how He will never leave us or forsake us. Before the day was over, the two girls were fast friends and had already planned to meet up again to do some ice skating and Bible study. Monica explained that she had never had a Bible and that because her family moved so often, she had never gotten plugged into a youth group or anything until just recently when Vicki had invited her to help set up for the Christmas program. Monica admitted that she had never even been to a Christmas program but that carrying the baby Jesus up to the manger had caused her to have some emotions that she just couldn't explain. Miranda smiled as she thanked God for His love and the opportunities that He gave.

Questions for Today: Do you find it easier to love others when you are walking close to God? When you neglect your daily Bible reading, prayer time, and other spiritual disciplines, do you find more conflict in your life?

Prayer for Today: Heavenly Father, please help us to love You more each day. Help us to show others Your love and give them the opportunity to know you. In Jesus' Name, we pray. Amen.

God's Simple Plan of Salvation

My Friend: we are about to ask you the most important question of your life. Your joy or your sorrow for all eternity depends upon your answer. The question is: Are you saved? Do you know Jesus Christ as your personal LORD and Saviour? It is not a question of how good you are, nor if you are a church member, but have you put your faith in Jesus? Are you sure you will go to Heaven when you die? The Bible makes the plan of salvation plain and simple. Romans 10:13 says For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Call on Jesus today. Put your faith and trust in him and ask him to forgive you of your sins and to be your LORD and savior and you will be born again...SAVED!! Do this today, tomorrow may be too late! Please write or call us if you have made the decision to accept Jesus.
