Lay Your Burden Down

George Whitten

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light. Matthew 11:28-30

This is one of my favorite passages in the Bible. I so love and appreciate the reality of resting in Him.

In Biblical times, the economy of the world was largely agricultural, so the meaning of “yoke” was easy to comprehend. To plow a field, you would place a yoke on a cow, ox, or horse with a plow attached and drive the animal forward to break up the ground preparing a field for sowing.

Jesus offers us a yoke, but not a heavy one. In fact, since He often referred to us as sheep, one might wonder if we were meant to carry a burden at all, since sheep are never used as plow animals. When have you ever seen sheep carrying anything ... you don't — they weren't equipped to carry heavy burdens. In any case, the Lord promised us a light yoke, with rest for our souls. No doubt, it is the burden of sin that He intended to relieve us from, giving us true rest.

Taking up Jesus yoke is equivalent to laying down a heavy burden, since His yoke offers rest, and He offers to carry our burden of sin. We often hear songs about laying our burdens down. Those words are a deep ministry to heavy-laden souls. If you are burdened today, take His yoke upon you ... lay it at His feet ... be relieved ... enter His rest.

CHURCH OF THE COVERED DISH by Thom Tapp

"I don't believe in gossip either. If it wasn't for prayer requests I wouldn't know ANYTHING!"

Cousin Leroy

An efficiency expert where Leroy worked concluded his lecture with a note of caution. "You don't want to try these techniques at home."

"Why not?" asked Leroy?

"I watched my wife's routine at breakfast for years," the expert explained. "She made lots of trips between the refrigerator, stove, table and cabinets, often carrying a single item at a time. One day I told her, 'Hon, why don't you try carrying several things at once? That would save you time'"

"Did it save her some time?" asked Leroy.

"Actually, yes," replied the expert. "It used to take her 20 minutes to make breakfast. Now I have to make it myself."

The Sign

One day Sven & Ollie, local pastors, were seen pounding a sign into the ground, that said: "DA END ISS NEAR! TURN YERSELF AROUND NOW BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE" As a car sped past them, the driver leaned out his window and yelled, "Leave us alone, you religious nuts!" From the curve they heard screeching tires and a big splash...Rev. Ole turns to Pastor Sven and asks, "Do ya tink maybe da sign should yust say 'Bridge Out'?"

Gone Fishing

This old fisherman would go out in his boat every morning and come back about an hour later with a cooler filled with fish. The game warden got suspicious as to how the old guy always caught so many fish in such a short time. So he invited himself fishing with the old guy.

They went to the middle of the lake, the old guy pulls out a stick of dynamite and throws it overboard. Boom! Fish start floating to the surface and the old guy starts scooping them up in his net. The game warden says, "You can't do that. It's illegal."

The old guy quietly lights another stick of dynamite, hands it to the game warden and says, "You gonna talk or are you gonna fish?"

The Street Preacher

A sidewalk preacher stood on a soapbox downtown and started a rousing sermon on salvation, ending with, "Brothers and Sisters, if you want to go to Heaven, come stand by me!"

Half of those standing around joined the preacher, and he went on, raising his voice and fervor, again with the call, "Brothers and Sisters, if you want to go to Heaven, come stand with me!" Half of those left came over and the preacher continued, ending again with the call to Heaven. This time, all but one man came over.

"Brother!" the preacher called, "Don't you want to go to Heaven when you die?" The man said, "Oh sure, when I die. I thought you were taking a load up now!"

The Empty Chair

Pastor Billy R Douglas

Each year around this time for the past few years. I have shared an article entitled "The Empty Chair". Needless to say since losing my wife this past July those words have become more real to me than ever. I want to share part of that article with you this month along with the poem I usually include. And a poem that the LORD gave to me after He called my sweet wife home. I pray that it will comfort others during their time of grief.

And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: for I said, Who can tell whether GOD will be gracious to me, that the child may live? But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me. 2 Samuel 12:22-23

The words of King David no doubt strike a chord in the heart of each one of us. He was mourning the death of his child. He had wept, fasted, prayed to God...but the child died anyway. Yet during this hard time in his life David found a truth to hold on to...a peace that can only come from the Lord. As we gather with our family for the holidays there will be an empty chair (or chairs) around the table that serve to remind us of loved ones who have went home to be with the Lord. As I thought on this the Holy Spirit brought something to mind that was a comfort to me and I pray that it in some way will comfort you as well. Just as there are empty chairs around our table as we gather, there are empty chairs around that great table in Heaven...those chairs await you and me. And just as King David said...we cannot bring our loved ones back to us but we can most assuredly go to them! If we keep our faith and our trust in Jesus Christ we can have the comfort of knowing that one day in the portals of Heaven we will once again gather around the table with our loved ones.

Time cannot heal the emptiness, Or fill the empty chair
The one that's in the family room, I see it empty there
Or the chair that's at the table, Where together we would dine
Although I sit there still, The only hands that pray are mine
Still I give thanks to God each day, I pray this prayer comes true
You save an empty chair for me, When I come home to you
(author unknown)

The Empty Chair

The empty chair I see each day, where you once used to be.
Serves only to remind me, there's no more you and me.
And yet with anguish tear filled eyes, I always seem to find.
Your memory ever present, in my heart and in my mind.
So till the day we meet again, I'll hold you ever near.
Until the time God wipes away, my each and every tear.
(Billy R. Douglas)

Until next time may the LORD bless and keep you, Pastor Billy R. Douglas

A Word to the Wise – Sainly Sentinels - Prov. 4:20-27

Pastor Steven Huston

“Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.” Proverbs 4:23

Pointing to wisdom and proclaiming her blessings upon this life and the life to come, exhorting his son to walk in her way while also desperately warning him of the wicked’s destructive ways; Solomon urges us to listen and obey his words, keeping them before our eyes as a fresh reminder and locking them away in the deep recesses of our heart – the seat of our affection. He compels us to do so NOT because they are simply his words; such urgent promptings are because this is the way of life and health – wholeness and holiness without which no man shall see the Lord! Wisdom’s way – holiness – is to be cherished in one’s heart before it, in reality, guards and guides our way, bringing the outward fruits of true holiness.

Once Wisdom and its love, joy, health, and holiness has found its home in one’s heart, the wise man commands his son to put a guard over it. We could call them sentinels of saving faith and grace which must be placed at the gates of one’s heart, lest little foxes would come in and spoil the pure waters that now flow from it. As Ralph Wardlaw warns, “Even the renewed heart requires the exercise of an unceasingly jealous vigilance.” He continues: “So, if we would keep the moral affections in healthy action, we must feed on ‘the bread of life,’ and breathe the air of heaven. We must avoid error, and live upon truth. It is thus that the affections are to be kept vigorous and pure. It is thus that the spiritual life is to be maintained in its active vitality – its efficient and influential energy. But the language implies the exercise of an unremitting jealousy over every propensity to sin, and especially the ‘sin that may most easily beset us.’”

If the headwaters of our heart become polluted, the streams which flow from us will also be polluted. So we set holy sentinels at the heart’s gates to guard our impulses, motives, emotions, and disposition. We pray that “the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom...” (Col. 3:16). Let’s see where these gates stand.

Vs. 24 posts Sainly Sentinels to guard the mouth and ear gates. Jesus warns that what’s in our heart spills out our mouth while James well-describes the tongue’s work as either destructive or full of praise. Wardlaw describes a “forward mouth” as one “not subject to control; a mouth that gives utterance, with proud self-will and scorn of restraint, to the dictates of a rebellious spirit – an unsubdued, unsanctified mind.” Today, many feel that words are just words, but they are a window of the heart. As for ears: whether friends, song, or television, we must also refuse to listen to ungodly speech. Another’s forward mouth may little by little corrupt our heart, mind, or mouth.

Vs. 25 positions a Sainly Sentinel at the eye gate, not only for guarding against evil allurements, but to also guide our eyes to heaven, its God, and our Redeemer. Hebrews well-exhorts us to look away from all else, keeping our eyes focused on Jesus, following Him every step of the chosen and holy way.

Vs. 26 places a Sainly Sentinel to guard our feet and our path. Solomon’s father, the great King of Israel, David, pondered the path of his feet. He considered well where his feet were according to the Word of God. If he were off but a little, he made haste to return to the way of righteousness (Ps. 119:59, 60).

These Sainly Sentinels stand guard along the pathway, establishing it as the way to go. Should we begin to turn to the right or the left – compelled by the lust of the eyes or the lust of a pharisaical spirit – may the Holy Spirit convict us, pricking our hearts and keeping us on the path of holy living. Dear Reader, let NOTHING draw you or drive you off the path!

May we take to heart both a negative and a positive example as expressed by Scripture: Avoid the epitaph of King Rehoboam: “And he did evil, because he prepared not his heart to seek the LORD” 2 Chronicles 12:14. And heed the admonition of Jesus in John 13:17: “If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.”

Thanksgiving in Times of Trouble

Pastor Steven Huston

On Christmas morning, before opening gifts, my wife and children gather around to actively listen as I read the “Christmas Story” from Luke chapter two. I assume that many of our readers have a similar tradition. This month, we will “gather together to ask the Lord’s blessing” and read the “Thanksgiving chapter,” I Chronicles chapter sixteen. Inside is found a wonderful “Thanksgiving” meal, bountiful praises to the most high God, a reminder that “he cometh to judge the earth,” and the real reason for all this praise and thanksgiving: “O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.” (v. 34)

It’s vital that we learn this truth and hide it deep within our heart and mind; it must be our constant reminder of who God is. No matter the circumstance, regardless the hurt, turmoil, or trouble, our God IS good; his mercy endures FOREVER! This is reason enough to give Him thanks; He is worthy of all glory, honor, and praise.

With the unimaginable horrors of Hamas’ attacks upon Israel and her innocent civilians, we continue to believe that He who keeps Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps; God is still sovereign and allows such trial and hurt for His purpose. Even as I write these words, my heart is burdened for Israel and over the very real prospect of such tribulation coming to America and what that would mean for myself and my own friends and family. Even so, I am reminded and comforted by the words of Methodist preacher John Wesley and puritan divine John Flavel, as they point to the goodness and mercy of God as His sovereign hand of providence intercedes in the lives of men and countries. I imagine that much of what we suffer can be attributed to God’s enduring mercy.

John Wesley, in writing to a young person regarding the various trials she was going through, encouraged her with these words: “We know indeed that these as well as all things are ordered by unerring wisdom, and are given us exactly at the right time, and in due number, weight, and measure. And they continue no longer than is best, for chance has no share in the government of the world. The Lord reigns and disposes all things, strongly and sweetly, for the good of them that love him.” Do we trust our God enough to give thanksgiving and praise in the midst of our storm?

John Flavel reminds us that: “Sometimes God uses the hand of enemies. He has bowed the hearts of many wicked men to show great kindness to his people that were intended for evil and mischief. Joseph’s brothers designed his ruin, but God used it for his advancement. The design and scope of providence must not escape our thorough consideration. Above all others, this is the most warming and melting consideration— ‘And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to his purpose’ (Rom. 8:28). ...Consider also the relation providence bears to our prayers! This is sweet meditation. Prayer honours providence and providence honours prayer!” O that our prayers would show our trust in the Creator of heaven and earth; let our heart echo that of the centurion, with tears, “Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief!” Dear Reader, His mercy endureth forever!

Times of trouble will come: international/national upheaval; disease and death; emotional, financial, mental strains; relational issues; sin, and a host of things too numerous to list. None of it matters in regard to our response to it. In the midst of the pain, sadness, or even devastation, trust in God’s goodness and mercy. Remember God’s will for you as described by Paul in I Thesalonians 5:18. “In every thing give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.” When anxiety creeps in, remember to “Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.” (Phil. 4:6)

Come what may, “O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth for ever.”

Reesie's Recipes

Reesie's Pea Salad

- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 Tbsp sugar
- 2 tsp apple cider vinegar
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/8 tsp pepper
- 4 cups frozen peas, thawed
- 3/4 cup shredded cheese
- 8 slices bacon, cooked crisp and crumbled
- 1/3 cup onion, diced

Thoroughly combine dressing ingredients. Add peas, cheese, bacon and onion. Toss gently.

Hawaiian Banana Bread

- 1/2 cup butter softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 large eggs
- 1 very ripe banana mashed
- 8 ounces crushed pineapple (do not drain)
- 2 cups flour
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 1/2 tsp baking soda
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/4 cup shredded coconut

Preheat oven to 350 In a large bowl cream butter and sugar together with a mixer until light and fluffy Add eggs one at a time and beat to incorporate Stir in mashed banana and pineapple In a separate, medium sized bowl, sift together flour, baking powder baking soda, and salt. Add to wet ingredients Stir in coconut flakes shreds Pour mixture into a greased loaf pan (9 x 5) Bake for 60 minutes or until a toothpick inserted comes out clean.

Reesie's Pineapple Upside Down Cake

- 1 box butter golden cake mix
- 3 eggs
- 1 stick margarine, melted
- 1 can sliced pineapples in juice
- 1 lb box light brown sugar
- 1 additional stick margarine, melted
- 1 jar Maraschino cherries

Preheat oven to 350. Spray a 9x13 cake pan with cooking spray. Spread brown sugar evenly across the bottom of pan and pour one stick melted margarine evenly over the brown sugar. Lay the pineapples down on top of brown sugar, reserve juice for cake mix. Place a cherry in the center of each pineapple. In a large mixing bowl add three eggs, one melted stick of margarine and reserved pineapple juice adding enough water to the juice to make one cup of liquid. Add to cake mix and mix on medium speed for two and a half minutes. Pour the cake batter over the brown sugar and pineapples. Bake for 45 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven, cool for 5 minutes. And flip out onto cake taker

VANITY Of VANITIES

The Place Of Judgment

Brother Tyler Willis

And moreover I saw under the sun the place of judgment, that wickedness was there; and the place of righteousness, that iniquity was there. I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work. Ecclesiastes 3:16-17

Where justice should abide the Preacher instead finds wickedness, and where righteous living should be taking place, all that can be found is sin. This is not what God had intended for man. We weren't meant to take these good and pure things and corrupt them, and yet that's what happened when Adam and Eve fell in the garden. This led us into this situation in which the Preacher can observe the areas that should be upstanding and Godly, and instead he finds nothing but wickedness and sin.

He acknowledges that it shouldn't be this way, but says to himself "God will be the judge, for both the righteous and the wicked." Just as Solomon stated in chapter 2 that death does not discriminate, neither does the judgment of God. Solomon knows that while things may be broken at the moment, God will ultimately make things right once again. We should take heart in this because no matter how bad things seem on earth at any given time, what always remains certain is that Jesus Christ, the exalted member of the Godhead, will be seated upon the judgment seat at the end of all things and He will judge the righteous and the wicked, correcting what has been corrupted upon this earth (2nd Corinthians 5:10).

Because of this coming judgment, the Preacher concludes that this is why there is a time for every purpose and every work - because everything a man does will affect the judgment of God.

Abiding In The Vine

Pastor Billy R. Douglas

I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. John 15:5

That is so plain that a child could understand. A branch that is separated from the tree can no longer live. It can no longer produce buds, leaves, flowers or fruit.

Why? Because it has been separated from its life source! That is exactly what will happen to us if we become separated from Jesus, our life source.

We must ever keep our faith in Jesus Christ and what he did on the cross. For in that and that alone will we find life and be able to produce good fruit.

“Uncle” Bud’s Daily Prayer

Nazarene preacher/evangelist “Uncle” Bud Robinson made this his daily prayer. I wonder how many today would make this their prayer and put their feet to such a prayer. I believe the Lord answered “Uncle” Bud’s prayer and I believe He would do the same for any who desire this and pray in faith believing.

"Oh, Lord, give me a back-bone as big as a saw log, and ribs like the sleepers under the church floor; put iron shoes on me, and galvanized breeches. And give me a rhinoceros hide for a skin, and hang a wagon load of determination up in the gable-end of my soul, and help me to sign the contract to fight the devil as long as I've got a fist, and bite him as long as I've got a tooth and then gum him till I die. All this I ask for Christ's sake. AMEN."

STORY BEHIND THE SONG

When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder

He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels. Revelation 3:5

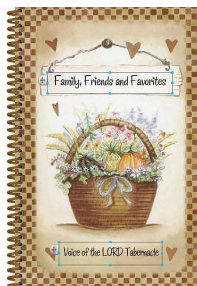

"When the trumpet of the Lord shall sound, and time shall be no more. And the morning breaks eternal bright and fair. When the saved of earth shall gather over on the other shore, And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there." (James M. Black, 1893)

It gives me hope and excitement to know that I am going to see my loved ones that have passed on and even more so I'm going to see Jesus!

When the Roll is Called Up Yonder is a song I heard a lot when I went to the General Baptist Church as a child. I loved it. It is an 1893 hymn by James Milton Black, and one of the most popular hymns of all time. The song was inspired by the idea of The Book of Life mentioned in the Bible, and by the absence of a child in Black's Sunday school class when the attendance was taken. The idea of someone's being not in attendance in Heaven haunted Black. After visiting the child's home and calling on a doctor to attend her for pneumonia, he went home and wrote the song.

I knew that song was too good not to have a story behind it.

A Word for TODAY!

By Sister Michelle Deuling

Verse for Today: Habakkuk 3:18 Yet I will rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation.

Additional passages for Today: Psalm 33:1; 97:12; Phil. 4:4; 1 Peter 4:12-13; Gal. 4:5-7

Thought for Today: Today, no matter the circumstance or the trial you may be going through, you are able to rejoice in the LORD. You can joy in the God of your salvation. You reflect God's glory and Bless His Holy name through your words and actions.

Story for Today: Sapphire spread the blanket out on the bleacher seats waiting for her friends to arrive. She was the first of the gang to get to the stadium and was happy to save the best seats for the football game. Tonight was a special night. She had heard that they would be having a special celebration during the game and then there was an after-the-game party. Sapphire looked forward with anticipation to the fun that the evening promised. Tonight was supposed to be a cool one as the sun went down, and she was prepared. She had blankets, coats, gloves, and even a warm hat. She recognized many of the fans as they came in to claim their seats. These games were always fun to watch and had many loyal spectators. Out of the corner of her eye, she thought she saw Jenny and Dana racing to the back of the concession stand. That was weird. Why wouldn't they have come and talked to her first? She must have just imagined that. However, as the minutes dragged on, and the seats around her began filling up, the feeling in the pit of her stomach began to grow stronger and stronger and her concern and insecurities grew right along with it.

Ten minutes before game time and not one of her friends had joined her. Then she saw Jenny and Dana with Jill, Theresa and Beth at the other end of the bleachers. They all looked like they were having a good time. She figured they must not have seen her but then she made eye contact with Jenny. When Jenny looked away immediately and began whispering to Jill, Sapphire struggled not to be hurt. She began collecting her things to make room for other people and decided to go find out what was going on with her friends. She began the long walk to the other end of the bleachers with loaded arms and a heart that was struggling to be joyful. When she looked up and saw the girls pushing their way up the bleachers away from her, her heart sank and she realized they had intentionally left her out. She found a seat that was empty and dropped her things down. She wasn't sure what kind of game her friends were playing but she decided then and there that she wasn't going to pout or get angry. Sure it hurt, but the game was about to begin and while part of the fun was spending time with others, she could still enjoy the fun that was to come and be grateful that what she had read in her Bible that morning was still true. She was redeemed. She was a child of the King. She was a joint heir with Jesus and because of that she would rejoice and be glad. She would joy in the God of her salvation.

As the game began, Sapphire noticed Patty sitting a few feet away. She began to talk to her and found out that Patty was going through a very bad situation in her life and really could use a good friend. Sapphire was grateful that she was able to be there for her.

Questions for Today: How do you handle disappointments and difficult situations? Do you remember who you are in Christ? Do you seek for the good that God will provide when you choose to live life to His Glory? How does pouting or sulking help you through disappointments?

Prayer for Today: Heavenly Father, Thank You for Your love and goodness to us. Thank You that You are able to turn disappointments and hurts into good when we continue to rejoice and have joy in You. Thank You for sending Your son to die in our place and to pay the price for our wrongs. Please help us to remember the cost and give You our best so that others may see You in us. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

God's Simple Plan of Salvation

My Friend: we are about to ask you the most important question of your life. Your joy or your sorrow for all eternity depends upon your answer. The question is: Are you saved? Do you know Jesus Christ as your personal LORD and Saviour? It is not a question of how good you are, nor if you are a church member, but have you put your faith in Jesus? Are you sure you will go to Heaven when you die? The Bible makes the plan of salvation plain and simple. Romans 10:13 says For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Call on Jesus today. Put your faith and trust in him and ask him to forgive you of your sins and to be your LORD and savior and you will be born again...SAVED!! Do this today, tomorrow may be too late! Please write or call us if you have made the decision to accept Jesus.
